Motion: Stop the eradication of the honey bees

The importance of honey bees for our civilization, our society can't be overestimated. Most agricultural crops and other plants are pollinated by honey bees.

But all over Europe there is a dramatic loss of beehives because the bees are dying. This phenomenon is known as "colony collapse disorder". The reasons for that are not totally clear but there are strong hints that the use of special pesticides plays a significant role.

Therefore we demand:

An independent EU-financed scientific research program shall be installed to find the reasons for the dying of honey bees. It has to be mentioned especially that the research as well as the results should be free from the influence of lobby-groups.

Until there are valid results we demand a ban of the pesticides that are likely a reason for the dying of the honey bees.
